YOUR DATA PROTECTION PARTNER

GDPR

Most people will be aware that Data Protection regulations changed within Europe on the 25th May 2018 with the implementation of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Whilst the GDPR is a European regulation, many organisations outside of Europe will be unaware that they are, under certain conditions, required to appoint a European Representative.

The requirement to appoint a European Representative is not new. Some organisations outside of the EU were supposed to be subject to a similar requirement already prior to 25th May 2018. However, very few companies outside of the EU have appointed representatives under Article 4 of Directive 95/46/EC, which has provided since 1995 that a "controller must designate a representative established in the territory of [a] Member State" where such controller "makes use of equipment, automated or otherwise, situated on the territory of the said Member State ..."

Article 3(2) and Article 27 of the GDPR expand the requirements to processors and removes the limiting condition of local equipment.

Does the GDPR apply to my Organisation?

Does your organisation have a legal entity currently established in Europe?

YES NO

Does your organisation have any other form of establishment in Europe?

YES NO

Does your organisation offer goods or services to citizens in Europe?

YES NO

Does your organisation monitor the behaviour of citizens located in Europe?

YES NO

If you answer YES to any of these questions it is likely that your organisation will be required to comply with the GDPR.

If you fail to appoint a European Representative you risk being fined €10 million or 2% of global turnover.
